1. At the Executive Committee Meeting this morning:

a. I briefed the group on plans for the party in honor of Mr. McCone and General Carter on Monday, 26 April, at the City Tavern. Everybody agreed with the present arrangements except the time, which was changed to 7:30 p.m.

b. We also discussed the possibility of having the President present the National Security Medal to Mr. McCone in the auditorium. I was alerted that, should this actually happen, DD/S would be in charge of the arrangements. (I therefore alerted Howard Osborn, Emmett Echols, and Alan Warfield to start thinking about the necessary preparations, handling the crowd, the award, etc.)

c. Mr. Kirkpatrick announced that Admiral Raborn wished to be briefed by each Office Head personally in the latter's office. Each briefing would be limited to one hour beginning next week with the DD/I area and followed by DD/S. (Later in the afternoon I assembled the DD/S Office Heads to inform them that they should be prepared to brief the Admiral on short notice, gave them a tentative time, and promised to furnish a detailed schedule later.)
